Now that the Legislature of Kentucky has given to women the right of suffrage in all matters pertaining to schools, the percentage of women voting will be something of a test as to how many women wish the ballot, for any purpose whatever and if they do not take advantage of their chance to vote in educational matters it is safe to say that they will not wish to mingle in the political rabble and dubile in the sure of politics. That all women do not wish the ballot, is demonstrated by the fact that a large number of prominent women have seen fit to publicly oppose it. At a meeting of the advocates and opponents of the movement recently held in Trenton, N. J., a Miss Bromson spoke very strongly against it and hoisted at the idea that women were deprived of any rights in the laws of our country, by keeping the ballot from her. She claimed that the whole tendency of recent legislation had been to enlarge the rights of women, and especially wage earning women, who are compelled to labor for their support. The good lady's reasoning is very forceful and she speaks true in regard to legislation, as an example we would cite the passage of the Wessinger act by the Kentucky Legislature in 1894, which gave the wife absolute control over her own property. Another lady, who is an ardent advocate of women's suffrage, said recently that if advocates of women's suffrage are met with supercilious smiles by legislative committees they would resort to the English method. The English method referred to was that of a party of English suffragettes who recently broke windows with stones and raised generally groveling in gutters for stones to throw at those who had incurred their displeasure, not only trying to imitate men, but to imitate the drunken lower element of men. It is easy to prophesy as to which view the greater part of our nobler women will take. We have confidence enough in them to believe that they will prefer the course, which is consistent with their dignity as ladies to that which would surely degrade them. If we believed that the majority of our good women wished the ballot we would not keep it from them five minutes, but we believe that the majority of the good women, whose vote would be worth anything would positively refuse to go to the polls.

Glenn Creek.

As I have never seen a letter from this place, I thought I would drop in a few lines. As the weather continues to rain the farmers will be late sowing tobacco beds. Mrs. Laura Steel and little son Ray, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cash Shewmaker Wednesday. Mrs. Dora Hayes and little son, Justin, were the guests of her mother, Mrs. James Gardner Thursday. The entertainment at the Oardwell school house last Friday night was well attended and all reported an enjoyable time. Mr. John Gardner and wife left Wednesday for Illinois to gain their fortune. Mr. Richard Gardner and family spent Tuesday night with their daughter, Mrs. Aquiline Gardner. Mrs. Eliza Catlett spent Tuesday at the home of Mr. Will Steel. Mrs. Elvie McMillan visited her brother, Mr. Loyd Catlett, of Mercer County Tuesday. Mr. Jason Holiday bought of Mr. John Gardner one horse, price $57. Miss Hester Gardner was at Cross Roads Friday on business. Mr. Albert Gardner and wife spent Sunday afternoon with Angelina Gardner. Mr. Obesias Jenkins, wife and little daughter, Christeen, spent Sunday afternoon with David Noel and family near this place. I will ring off for this time. If this letter is in print I will come again, by, by, Candy Kiss.

Broadway.

Spring, with her golden sun and silvery rain, is with us once again. We hope the ground hog has gone north to remain. Farmers are very busy. Most every one in this section have sown their plant beds. Mr. T. M. Badgett has just returned from a business trip to Lexington. Miss Nancy Wethington is visiting relatives in Lebanon. Miss Lela Wright and Miss Emma and Mary Badgett visited their sister, Mrs. Leo Hill, recently. Mrs. Teresa Osbourne visited her aunt, Mrs. Rose Macklin Saturday. The school at our place is progressing nicely. Miss Victor Osbourne is our teacher. Mr. Jerry Smith and his best friend visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Goebel Smith spent a very pleasant afternoon Saturday with friends in Springfield. Miss Catherine Gamble, of Lebanon, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Maggie Smith, of this place. Mr. Albert Blandford and wife were the pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Smith the past week. Misses Flora and Ruthie Wethington and Miss Maggie Smith spent one day last week with Miss Teresa Osbourne. Several from this place attended the funeral of Miss Ella Osbourne at St. Rose Monday. Misses Flora and Ruthie Wethington were in Lovette Friday afternoon. Messrs. Carl Thompson and Charles Stephenson were the guests of Misses Maggie Smith and Catherine Gamble Sunday night. Mr. Goebel Smith was the pleasant guest of Miss Proney Riley Sunday evening. Hamilton Smith the little son of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Louisville, died suddenly at the home of his parents, March the 8, 1912. A precious one from us has gone. A voice we love is still. A place is vacant in his home which never can be filled. A friend, M. S.

Noble Denmark

Reg. No. 2640

Foaled 1906, handsome Chestnut 16 hands by Highland Denmark 730. First dam Kentucky Belle 1902 by Thornton Star 1024, 2d dam Little by Art Rose 708, 3d dam by Mock Chief, 4th dam Washington Denmark 64. Noble Denmark though a young horse is rated with the best of sires. He is highly finished and a perfect saddle horse type. He is said by well known judges such as Wm. Kirby, of Bowling Green, W. G. Shropshire, of Winchester, Roger Lillard and Elmer Bailey to be a great type for a three gaited saddle stallion and is sure to breed that class of horses. He was successfully shown by Mack Hughes last year—was never outside the money, and many times first—was never defeated by a Stallion in model ring. His two seasons of colts show remarkable uniformity. His yearling and suckling won at Bardonia and Springfield, and in the sale ring have commanded good prices. Noble Denmark's sire and his grand sire on both sides were championship saddle horses in Kentucky and Missouri. His dam and two of her colts were State Fair winners. Consider his breeding, his individuality, his show ring qualities where will you go to find one his superior. Noble Denmark will make the season at

EYE SIGHT SPECIALIST

Gives Another Sensation in Spectacle Selling

Gold Filled Spectacles With Lenses Fitted to Your Eyes by an Expert Optician for

$1.00 FOUR DAYS

Commencing Wednesday April 3 and continuing through Saturday, April 6

DONT FAIL TO READ THIS

Day after day hundreds of satisfied customers are appreciating the giant strides that the science of optics has taken in the last year, as exemplified by my Persian People Lenses.

I have by far the most exclusive series of instruments ever used in America for testing the eye. I have revolutionized the optical business and am an EYE SIGHT SPECIALIST exclusively, making the eye and its needs my study. I especially invite those who have been improperly fitted elsewhere to take advantage of my skill without charge. Do not buy glasses from miscellaneous dealers, Jewelers, Druggists, your eyes are too precious to be examined by any except the most expert. It cost no more and will save your sight.

BY MY METHOD

I relieve all eye strain that causes Headache, Dizziness, Floating spots, Nervousness sore and inflamed eyes, Catarrh, etc., without drugs or pain. All patients examined by electric skiascopy revealing the slightest error of refraction as well as any diagnosed or abnormal condition of the eye. Glasses made that will fit the most difficult cases. New lenses put in your old frames if desired. SPECIAL ATTENTION given to the relief of all nervous troubles which come from irritation of the vital nerve and brain centers, caused from uncorrected eyestrain where the wearing of the proper fitted glasses will relieve the condition.

Irrelevant Youth. On a recent publication day of a newspaper printed west, a boy, some ten or twelve years of age, came into the office, and with a peculiar grin on his face, inquired, "if that paper" pointing to the copy, "has no account of the man that has been murdered in Lebanon?" He was answered in the affirmative, whereupon he casts upon the table, he remarked, with an air of indifference, "Well—that's my dad, and I want to read about him."—Boston Herald.

come in and see him whether they need anything or not. Dr.
Kendall has just returned from Chicago after an absence of several months which he spent at the Northern Illinois college taking up some Post Graduate work on the eye.

To all who call to see him while in Springfield whether socially or on business they will be presented with two handsome little books, one on diseases of the eye their care and cure, and the other one on the subject of nature and health. Don't forget the dates.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Judge Sees a Ghost.

Charley Norton's good office did not end when he had furnished Judge Price with a house, for Betty required of him that he should supply that gentleman with legal business as well.

Thus it happened that Judge Price, before he had been three days in Raleigh, received a civil note from Mr. Norton asking him to search the title to a certain timber tract held by one Joseph Quinn. The judge, powerfully excited, told himself he was being understood and appreciated. It was a little matter, but it was a matter.

Entering the court house, he found himself in a narrow hall. He entered the country office and saw a man he knew to be the county clerk. He was already known to the official, whose name was Paul, and he was greeted with a friendly smile.

"A little matter of business brings me here, sir," began the judge, with a smiling face and a pleasant voice. "I am in some haste to look up a title for my client, Mr. Norton."

Mr. Paul scrambled to his feet and led the judge to the door of the county clerk's office. He opened the door and stepped out into the hall. The judge followed him, and they went down the hall to the door of the county clerk's office.

"This is what you want, sir. Better take the ledger to the window, the light in here isn't much," he drew the judge to the window.

"The light in here isn't much," he drew the judge to the window.
